DEVELOPER

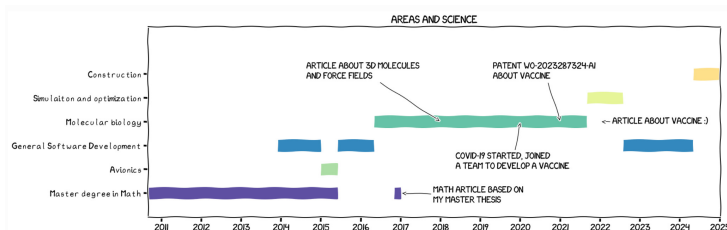

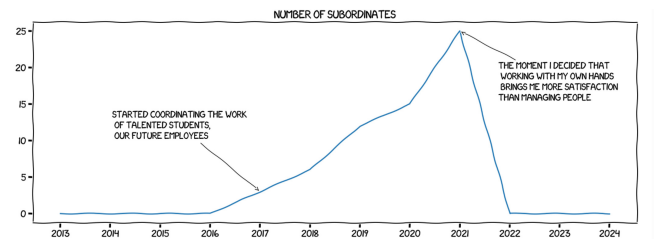

With over 10 years in development, I've primarily focused on backend development but have also dabbled in frontend, participated in DevOps, and worked with various databases, brokers, and processes of certification and verification of the software.

MANAGER

I work effectively in a team, know how to lead, and am always ready to get hands-on.

Having overcome micromanagement issues, my current philosophy is to help the team be more effective, not hinder them.

RESEARCHER

With a strong background in mathematics, I'm passionate about diving deep into the fields I work in. Over 6 years, I delved into molecular biology and lab methods, contributing to the creation of a coronavirus vaccine, and now I'm actively immersing myself in engineering in construction industry.
